

Overall goal: Understand how deployment popularity and reuse influence jointly shape AI software ecosystems centered on reusable model artifacts, and identify models that serve as important technical starting points for downstream construction.